

Statutory Trust request for use with an application for a National Deposit Friendly Society Limited policy

(Married Women's Property Act 1882)
(Married Women's Policies of Assurance (Scotland) Act 1880)
(Law Reform (Husband & Wife) Act (Northern Ireland) 1964)

This Trust should be used with single life applications only.

Standard trust forms are designed to be suitable for the majority of people wishing to establish such trusts, but it must be recognised that they cannot be suitable for all, and, therefore, prospective settlors or donors are encouraged to seek independent legal advice before establishing such schemes.

NB In this Trust form and accompanying notes,

- (i) use of the singular includes the plural, and vice versa*
- (ii) Use of any gender includes the other genders*

Points to be considered

Before writing a policy in trust, you should ensure that the trust provisions meet the requirements and intentions of the Settlor as it may be difficult, impossible or expensive to vary the provisions at a later date. The person applying for the policy will be the Settlor. In the case of a statutory trust the Settlor will always be the life assured.

It should also be borne in mind that a policy written in trust has certain limitations.

There are many advantages of having a policy issued under a statutory trust. For example:

- (a) Claims can be settled more quickly, as payment of the claim can be made before the granting of Probate or issuing of Letters of Administration.
- (b) The proceeds from the policy are not aggregated with the estate of the life assured on death and are therefore not subject to inheritance tax when paid.
- (c) If, under the terms of the Trust, every beneficiary only takes an absolute interest in a stated share there is no liability to inheritance tax on distribution to beneficiaries. This may not apply if it is left to the Trustees to determine the Beneficiaries' entitlements.
- (d) The statutory trust provides greater protection from the Settlor's creditors than a non-statutory trust. If the Settlor effected the policy whilst knowing of his insolvency, the creditors can only claim the amount of the premiums paid. Otherwise, the Settlor's creditors have no further claim on the policy proceeds.

Beneficiaries

The class of persons who can benefit under this Trust (called the Beneficiaries) is restricted by the statute that governs the Trust and may include only the following:

- (a) The legal wife or husband, or registered civil partner, of the Settlor. Unmarried partners cannot be included
- (b) The children (including illegitimate and/or legally adopted children) of the Settlor – but not step-children or grandchildren

Trustees - selection and qualification

It is recommended that more than one Trustee is appointed. Trustees are appointed at the outset and may include:

- (a) The Settlor.
- (b) The Settlor's spouse or registered civil partner.
- (c) Any other person aged 18 or over who is prepared to accept the responsibility of seeing that the benefits of the policy are applied in accordance with the provisions of the Trust. Although there is no legal bar on an adult child of the Settlor's being appointed as a Trustee, it is advisable to always ensure that there is at least one independent Trustee who does not stand to benefit under the terms of the Trust.
- (d) A solicitor, accountant, a bank or other corporate trustee. They may, however, charge for the service.

Further Trustees can be appointed by the Settlor or, after his death, by the Trustees. Please refer to our Trust Guide for further information on who can be a trustee and how many trustees are recommended.

Important notes

Although this Trust (and the explanatory notes) are intended to cover trusts to be set up under the Married Women's Property Act 1882, Married Women's Policies of Assurance (Scotland) Act 1880 or Law Reform (Husband & Wife) Act (Northern Ireland) 1964, it is important to note that trusts set up under either the Scottish or Northern Ireland legislation are subject to slightly different legal terms and provisions. Anyone considering the establishment of a trust is advised to take specific legal advice in the appropriate jurisdiction before proceeding. Neither the Society nor any of its agents or employees accept any responsibility for any loss arising as a result of the use of the Trust Deed or in reliance on the information contained in this document.

Guidance to completion of the Trust

Note: The Trust form must be completed, dated and signed at the same time as the proposal form, and submitted with it.

(i) Introduction to trust

- Insert the date of the request and application.
- Insert the type of policy (e.g. 'Endowment Policy' 'Whole of Life Policy').
- Insert the full name of the proposer (Settlor).
- Delete the statutes that do not apply to your Trust e.g. delete MWPA (Scotland) Act and Law Reform (Husband & Wife) Act (Northern Ireland) if you live in England.

(ii) Beneficiaries (PART 1)

The draft provides five optional clauses – the proposer must choose one, depending on his or her requirements, by initialling the appropriate box. Think carefully before completing these sections. This choice cannot be altered later.

- Initial the box next to the beneficial provisions you wish to apply to your Trust. Only initial one box.
- If selecting clauses (a), (c) or (e), delete references to "husband", "wife" and "registered civil partner" as appropriate.
- You do not have to name your spouse and/or child(ren) in clauses (a) and (b), but you may wish to because, if you do not, then the spouse and/or children in existence when the Policy benefits become payable will benefit. If you insert the names of the relevant individuals then only those named (or their estates) will benefit.
- Clause (c) gives the Trustees the flexibility to appoint benefits amongst your spouse, registered civil partner and/or children. However, selecting this option may result in Inheritance Tax liabilities arising on each tenth anniversary of the creation of the Trust and on capital distribution from the Trust. You should take appropriate tax advice before selecting this option.

(iii) Additional trust terms (PART 2)

In clause (iv) delete references to "wife". "husband" and "registered civil partner" as appropriate.

(iv) Appointment of first Trustees (PART 4)

Delete the words: "Myself (the Settlor) and" if you do not wish to be appointed as a Trustee.

Then insert the names and addresses of the additional Trustees.

The Trustees must sign to evidence their agreement to their appointment and insert the date of their signature.

(v) Signature (PART 7)

The Settlor should sign the Trust form and insert the date of signature in words and figures.
